

National Aeronautics and Space Administration

Glenn Research Center
Lewis Field
Cleveland, Ohio 44135-3191

Mission Analyst Co-op Student Position

Systems Analysis Division (PB)
Power and Communications Systems Analysis Office (PBP)
NASA Glenn Research Center, Cleveland, OH

Job Description:

Co-op student will perform mission analysis duties in the Power and Communications Systems Analysis Branch of the Glenn Research Center's. The student will perform International Space Station (ISS) Electrical Power System (EPS) performance analysis, analytical simulation, and software development. The student gains experience from a variety of disciplines including electrical engineering, aerospace/mechanical engineering, mathematics, and computer science. The student will work closely with senior personnel. Complexity of the task will be increased as the student gains experience.

Length of Position:

Alternating quarters/semesters until graduation.

Job Openings:

1 position

Eligibility:

- Junior in Electrical, Mechanical, Aerospace Engineering, Mathematics, or Computer Science
- Minimum entry GPA 3.0 (4.0 scale)
- United States Citizen
- Enrolled as a full-time student
- Enrolled in university's co-op program
- Must be recommended by appropriate staff member from University.

Salary Range:

Based on 2004 OPM salary table:
$11.67 - $14.55 per hour (undergraduate student)
$16.17 + (graduate student)

Closing Date:

Until filled